FACULTY AUTOGRAPHS

ADMINISTRATION

Greetings and best wishes to the graduating classes of 1944.

My compliments to the students and faculty members responsible for this excellent publication.

Considerable effort and planning is necessary for the successful completion of a project of this kind. I note with pleasure that you have again reached the same high standards set for you by your predecessors.

—C. G. Burns.

This Annual continues a tradition built up over a period of almost 30 years. During this time thousands of young men and women have left Northwestern halls and class rooms to take their places in the vocational and civic affairs of our city and nation. The classes of January and June 1944 are worthy successors of an illustrious group of alumni. My best wishes to them for a successful and happy life.

—Joseph G. Wolber.

Again we counselors have said farewell to another January class and are about to say it to another June class. We have planned, worked, and played with you for three years, and have watched you grow into young womanhood and young manhood. Our interest in you is such that it cannot be terminated by your graduation, so through the years our interest in each of you will continue; and we hope you will ever think of us as your friends.

—Vera Fox.

FOREWORD

When Father Time shook down the hour glass and sent 1944 on his merry way to Earth, he equipped the sorrowful, little war baby with a set of Cupid's bows and arrows and named him "Leap Year." The advent of Leap Year allows the girls to openly beguile and chase their men. In this war year of 1944, the boys can run faster and farther than usual because their service in the armed forces carries them far and wide. The pages of this year's Norwester depict the far-flung places to which the girl must travel in order to catch her man. Of course, her extensive trip must, for the present, exist in the figments of her imagination, but we're confident that she will, as she always has, gain her objective. Together, they will see the world of tomorrow, which they have planned, built, and fought for, unfold as it unfolds for you on the inspiring double page spread in the back of this yearbook. It will be their world of dreams come true!

OUR NEW OFFICE

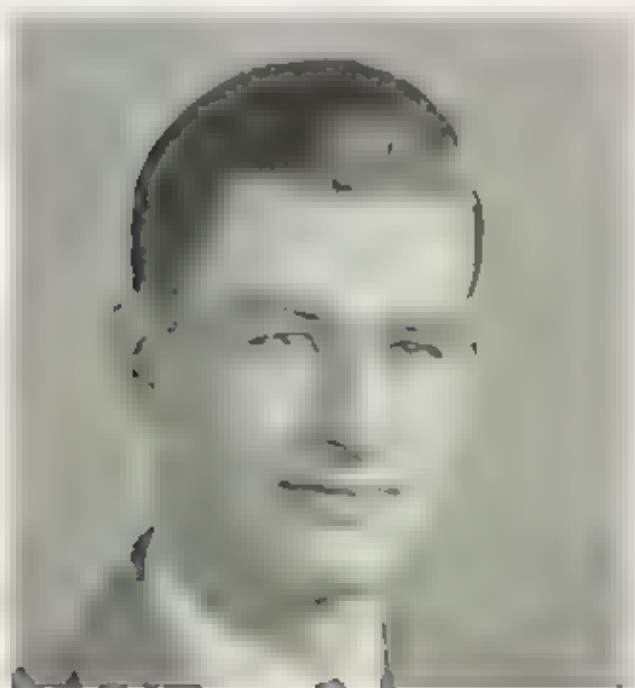

Beauty, efficiency, simplicity—these three mark the recent renovation of Northwestern's main office, room 108, first floor, Northwestern Building.

A temporary office establishment was situated in room 113 during the remodeling process when walls were ripped down and robust paint brushes were dabbed on exposed surfaces, and a beautiful linoleum was laid. In fact, the entire office was in a constant hum-drum for several months.

The results are gratifying, however, for the Northwestern office is now another of the Coats' pride and joys. The rooms are neat, clean, simple, and attractive, affording the staff, faculty, and students a better place in which to execute business.

NORWESTER EDITORS

JAMES REASON
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

GEORGE BALCH
ASSISTANT EDITOR

On the broad shoulders of Jim Reason fell the task of producing a wartime Norwester which would conform with the printer's limitations and still be the peppy, up to the minute yearbook that is the heritage of Northwestern. With the assistance of six capable staff heads, the goal was achieved. Numerous trips to Cramer's, the engraver, and the printer, plus hours of dummy copy setting and proofreading were the fate of Jim Reason and George Balch. To Literary Editor Alice Jorgensen went the responsibility of assigning, planning, and correcting all the written material, and from her hands it found its way to Stenographic Editor Margaret Kaplanian, where it was transformed into clear legible copy. Art Hasty handled the all important circulation department and Advertising Manager Mary Holmberg went out after ads and brought them in like a veteran. Betty Starr deserves the credit for the stacks of art work which so clearly expresses the theme of the Norwester. These seven people worked together as a uniform team. None are happier than they to see the dream of the "Norwester" become an actuality.

GIRLS' BUSINESS CLUB

An all important group in Northwestern's round of activities, spirited both in service and social work, is the ever popular Girls' Business Club. The fall officers, Carol Hoett, president, Wilma Wilson, vice president, Elizabeth Lundin, secretary, and Barbara Doty, treasurer, were instrumental in preparing the Thanksgiving and Christmas boxes for the needy and the servicemen. The spring officers, Carolyn Machan, president, Elizabeth Lundin, vice president, Jan Johnston, secretary, and Margaret Kaplanian, treasurer, succeeded in having the girls learn to do a little knitting for Britain, so that the club can soon boast a completed afgan. Miss Ruth Randall was the faculty sponsor.

LATIN CLUB

The Committee Romana sponsored the Pan linguistic Festival and the Junior Classical League, of which the Latin Club recently became a member. Both activities were highly successful. These added attractions are responsible for the large membership and are lasting symbols of the interest in this Society. Miss I. Black is the faculty sponsor. Fall term officers were Lucille Richardson, president, Bud Doss, vice president, Barbara Carr, secretary, Don Burlington, treasurer, Bud Lawson, entertainment chairman, and Carol Hunt, program chairman. Spring term officers were Carol Hunt, president, Martin Maltz, vice president, Miriam Kim, secretary, Edgar Smith, treasurer, Evert Von Moltke, entertainment chairman, and Lois Hilgendorf, program chairman.

SPANISH CLUB

"Los Leones Espanoles," the official name of the Spanish Club, means "The Spanish Lions." It sounds impressive, and it's an appropriate name for an up-and-coming group. The club is designed to further interest in the Spanish and South American languages, art, music and ways of life.

Officers for the Fall term were Karl Farrar, president; Lois Hilgendorf, vice-president; Marguerite Brauer, secretary, and Pat Ecklein, treasurer. In January, officers elected were Josephine Larsen, president; Pat Ecklein, vice-president; Mary Kaprihan, secretary; and Pat Ecklein, treasurer. The club's co-sponsors were Miss Kahn and Mrs. Adams.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

The Choir did much to further Northwestern's standing this year by singing for many organizations. The Lion's Club, The Kiwanis Club, and the Rotary Club were but a few. The Christmas concert, presented at Cass Tech, climaxed a successful term. After "polishing up" for the new term, the Choir really got under way by adding many important dates to their calendar. Among these were the opening meeting for the Midwest Health Education Conference, a radio broadcast, and the Midwestern Theatre Program on Good Friday. At the commencement exercises the Choir sang the "Song of Victory" by Fletcher. Mrs. Bernice R. Wagoner is the director.

RADIO DRAMATICS CLUB

First Row, J. Reason, K. Manders, I. Larsen. Second Row, L. Daly, P. Comstock, D. Highfield, A. Grabowski, A. Johnson, M. Moore, K. Farrar, V. Moore, J. Blair.

The group responsible for the delightful dramas and sensational broadcasts heard over Northwestern's Public Address System is none other than the Radio Dramatics Club. Its members have charge of giving regular school announcements and presenting all programs. Hundreds and special events always find the club ready with a suitable broadcast.

The sponsor for the last term was Mr. Ford. Officers were Virginia Moore, president; Jim Reason, vice president; Kay Manders, secretary; Larry Daly, treasurer. In January the gavel passed to Jim Reason. Kay Manders was vice president, Det. Highfield, secretary, and Josephine Larsen, treasurer. Miss Greene took over the sponsor's duties.

SERVICE CLUB

Northwestern's corridors are remarkably void of loitering students. Here the Service Club may be commended for doing a difficult job well.

Miss Esther Kennedy, successor to Miss Lydia Holtman, former faculty sponsor, has handed her new duties with surprising ease. Replacing the fall term officers, Jane Blair, president; Helen Cudmore, vice president; and Sophia Salaskis, secretary, is a new system constituting a directing committee.

The Service Club's duties also include sponsoring the sale of Northwestern book covers, stickers, athletic tickets and pins. It is responsible for the trophy arrangements in the showcases and for guiding visitors and new students.

Hear those chimes? It's the P. A. R. Staff, right on the job with the latest news. The letters P. A. R. stand for Public Address, Auditorium, and Radio. This staff has many fine technicians as well as other pupils just interested in fundamentals of radio. Some of the varied duties are engineering programs for Record, handling all movies and radio programs, staging programs, and supervising the technical part of all glee and exercises. During the school year, the staff had twenty members, of which three were girls. Mr. A. M. Chas. was faculty sponsor, and Richard Baumler was the student chief technician with Arnold Pylkas as his assistant.

A fairly new addition to the Music Department is the Boys' Glee Club. This organization is in its infancy, but promises to become a valued asset to the department. Already it has shown signs of becoming another Fred Waring chorus. There are many boys in the beginning classes who are looking forward to joining the Glee Club next semester. Mrs.
Bernice R. Wagoner is training this group.

Stewart, C. Winton

PEP CLUB

Whenever sharp red and gray sweaters were seen flitting about the halls, we knew that the folks in question were members of the super-spirited Pep Club. This club promoted school spirit and fostered many peppy new yells. Sparky, the red and gray C.C.T. mark, her debut as the club's ward and put in her appearance at all athletic events.

The Fall semester saw Vern Curtis as president, Mary Kops, vice president, Georgia Chames, secretary, and Barbara James, treasurer. In January, the gavel passed to Mary Kops, who was assisted by Lois Long. Ruth Ellison was secretary, and Barbara Allen, treasurer. "Pepper-upper-plus" was Coach Sam Bishop, the faculty sponsor.

LIBRARY STAFF

What is the seat of study and learning in Northwestern? The library, of course. Under the direction of Miss Winton and Mrs. Martech, who are assisted by a large staff, the library serves efficiently hundreds of pupils with their studies.

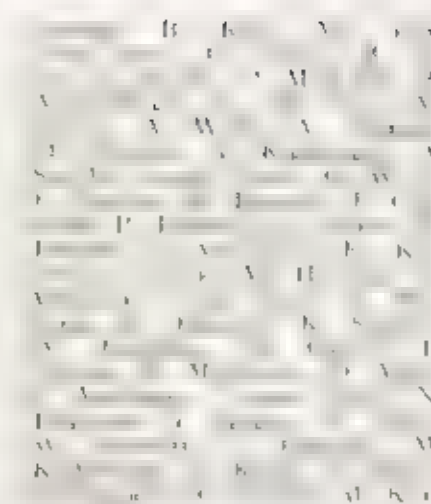

Service is made possible by the fundamental course in library science, given to every staff member. He becomes acquainted with reference books and other phases of library work which enables him to answer many queries and do the routine work. The staff member learns much which will be useful later, while, at the same time, earning high school credit. Those who excel become student supervisors.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

This semester, the girls have gone "all out" to provide good music throughout the school. Their melodious songs have gladdened many a heart in these troubled times. The Glee Club has sang on numerous occasions for various activities, clubs and organizations. These public appearances were highlighted in March when the girls presented a beautiful St. Patrick's Day program on Station WXYZ for the Senior Music Hour. This same program was presented for the Night School graduates on March 22 at the request of Mr. Wolber, principal. The soloists for the broadcast were Jean Alia, Ethel Dackworth, Jean Johnston, Kay Manders and Sheilah Wilmot.

MODERN DANCE CLUB

Rhythm! Grace! Technical skill! Imagination! These are the requisites for membership in the Modern Dance Club. Every Tuesday afternoon these young ladies combined to form a group of well poised individuals and composed dances of new and interesting patterns. So superlative were their efforts, that they were chosen as the one group to represent Detroit high school girls' activities at the Physical Education Teachers' Convention. In addition they frequently contributed to programs at Northwestern. During the fall term, Doris Perdue called the sessions to order, assisted by Rose Marie Moore, secretary. In January, Helen Weidman assumed the president's duties. Rose Marie continued as secretary. The club's sponsor was Mrs. Carty.

ORCHESTRA

Even though hit hard by graduation, the orchestra upheld its reputation and traditions despite handicaps and came through with flying colors. The annual election won the day for Marian Bradford. Lloyd Jones was her able assistant. Phil Eckstein took the minutes and Jerry Cook was treasurer. In order to broaden the musical knowledge of his charges, Mr. Fax distributed classical and modern music in his organizations. Graduation assemblies and all school events would be at a loss were not the ready orchestra at hand.

"A" BAND

What would rallies, basketball games, and commencement exercises be like if the "A" Band weren't there to lend its spirit and color to the occasion? Under the responsible leadership of Mr. Maurice Fax, the 68 band members have proven to all that their organization is one of the most popular and successful that Northwestern can boast. Margie Thomson was president; Bill Schmidt, vice-president; Rosa Marie Hix, secretary, and Marjorie Porter, treasurer. Undoubtedly the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association will reward their efforts by placing them in the coveted first division.

VICTORY BANK COMMITTEE

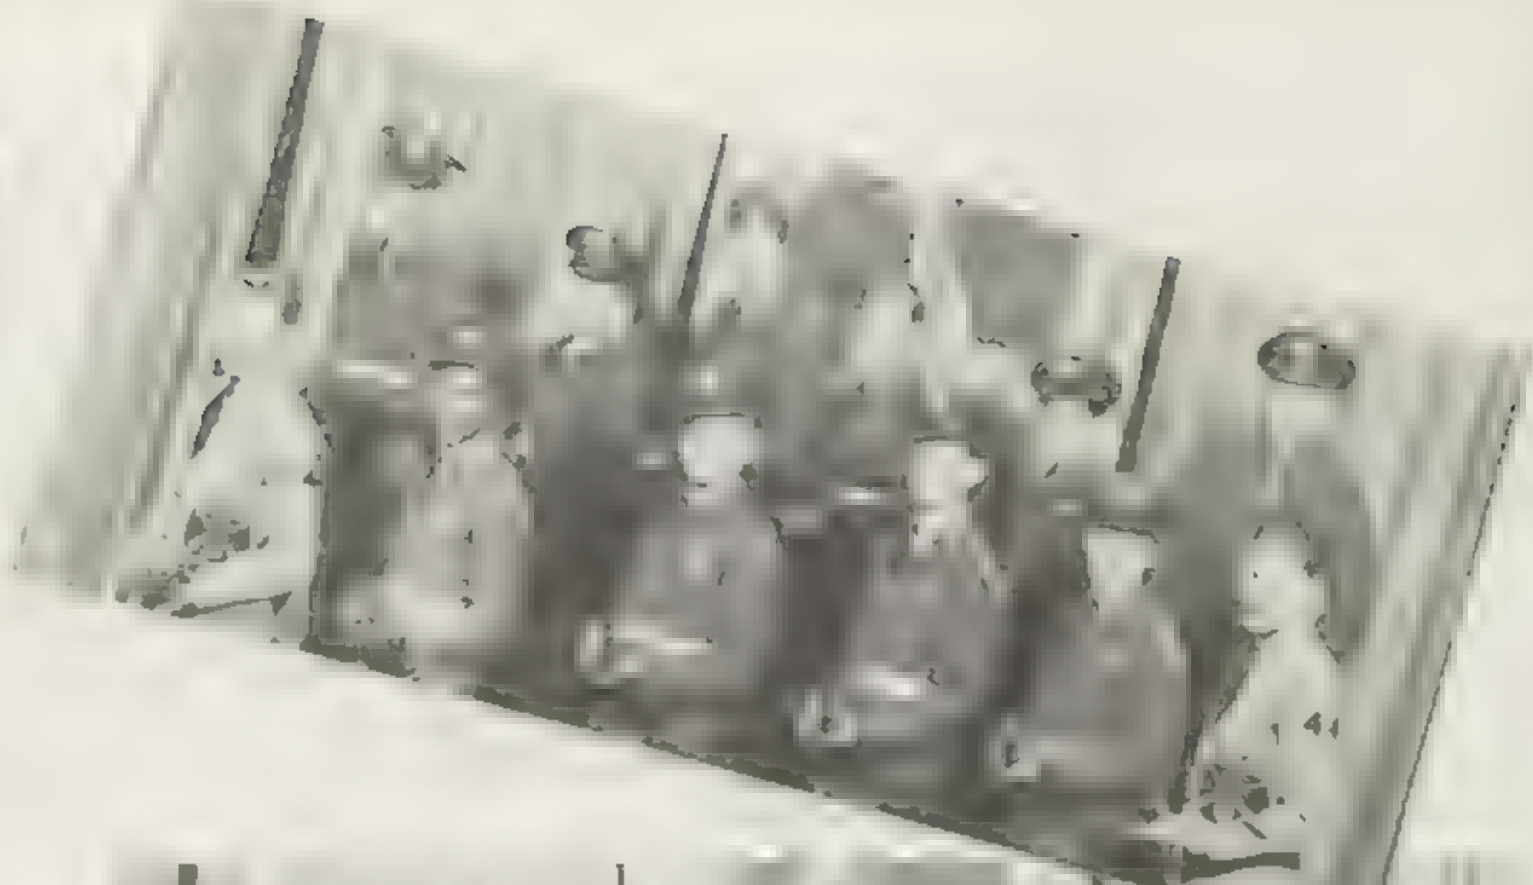

Victory Bank, Northwestern's branch of Uncle Sam's Treasury, with a "Twig" organization in each homeroom employs at least 200 hard workers, engaged weekly in this "essential war work." Assisted by a large and active body of Gallants in the 3rd and 4th War Loan Drives, the organization has sold over $190,000 worth of war Stamps and Bonds since September and kept our Minute Man Flag flying continuously. The faculty Directing Committee consists of Miss Lehman, chairman, Mrs. Resow, Mr. Demaree, Mrs. Ahearne, Mr. Cline, Mrs. Glassing, and Miss Guenther.

COLT STAFF

Timeless in its continuity and popular for its unique knack of getting "inside" news, "The Colt" has for 29 years been rated 1-A in the minds of Northwestern students.

It appears bi-weekly throughout the school year and contains material of interest to the entire student body. Being a publication of the students, by the students, and for the students, the staff is composed of a rotating membership. However, Marguerite Brader has served as Editor several terms. Faithfully lending counsel and encouragement to the hard-working staff is faculty adviser, Mr. A. B. Keenan with his ever-cheerful spirit.

R. O. T. C. R I F L E T E A M

The R.O.T.C. Rifle Team has been "hitting on all fours" with its improving marksmanship. We have always produced teams of the highest caliber at Northwestern known not alone for their excellent shooting, but for the spirit, good teamwork and competition displayed by these "crack shots." The interest in this team is ever increasing and competition for membership was keen this year. The good showing made in the Sixth Corps Army competition and the Hearst Trophy Matches is evidence of the long hours of practice and excellent training maintained under the supervision of Sgt. Charles Dommer, U.S.A.

R. O. T. C. O F F I C E R S' C L U B

"Company At-ten-shun!" The R.O.T.C. Officer's Club, led by Sgt. Charles Dommer, passes in review! One sees the ranking officers leading this parade, Major Mayer, Captain Ramsey, and Captain Hutchings. The club scheduled its meetings for Wednesday evenings at 7:30, and alternate weeks, one of the boys, in his turn, played host. At these meetings, personal difficulties were ironed out and drill corrections were mastered. The officers were Bob Eaves, president; Bruce Mayer, vice president; Harold Hutchings, secretary; and Walter Houston, treasurer. Those governing the organization in the spring were Bruce Mayer, president; Harry Ramsey, vice president; Walter Houston, secretary; and Sheldon Perry, treasurer.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Not a make-believe political set-up, but a junior government—that's Northwestern's Student Council. During the year, the Council upheld the snack bar, issued a paper, awarded Council medals, sent representatives to Girls' State and Boys' State Conferences, assisted choosing "celebs," and sponsored several dances.

During the Fall semester, Larry Daly pounded the president's gavel, and Orval Johnson was vice president. Kay Munders, corresponding secretary, Betty Starr, recording secretary, and Sally Barden, treasurer. The president for the Spring term was Don Miller, vice president, Jim Hague, corresponding secretary, Nina Lou Rickels, recording secretary, Marjorie Thompson, and treasurer, Margaret Evanoff. Faculty advisers are Mrs. Helen Bauer, Miss Betty Kahn, and Mr. J. P. McGuinness.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A major twig on the Board of Education's tree of knowledge is the National Honor Society, whose Northwestern Chapter forms an all important branch. Organized here in 1938, the purpose of the National Honor Society is to encourage character, leadership, service, and scholarship among high school students.

Fall term officers were Al Schaufelberger, president; Orval Johnson, vice president; Marion Brainard, secretary. Those elected for the spring term were Bob Hagan, president; Art Hasty, vice president; Marguerite Braader, secretary. The sponsor, Mrs. Ella B. Adams, in her years of service, has continually enabled the Society's high ideals to be preserved.

The Martindale Building, room 180, laid the scene for the work on this year's Norwester. Before the big job of organizing, planning, and ultimately printing and publishing the yearbook was initiated, the editors began to look dubiously at each other and say with that dead pan look of solemn faith . . . "Don't worry, we'll have a yearbook someday." That "dead pan look of solemn faith" was the determination and perseverance behind the dream that made the "Norwester" possible. Working against shortages of material, labor, and time, the "someday" finally arrived and the staff can proudly place the 1944 "Norwester" in the hands of its staunch and foremost supporters the students and faculty of Northwestern High School.

Editor Jim Reason's life was a jumble of deadlines, proofreading, and dates (with the engraver and printer), but he instructed his subordinates capably and well. His load was made much lighter by the debut of his assistant, George Balen, that wise magician who specialized in bringing back to reality the precious articles and pictures that so frequently were . . . shall we say, misplaced.

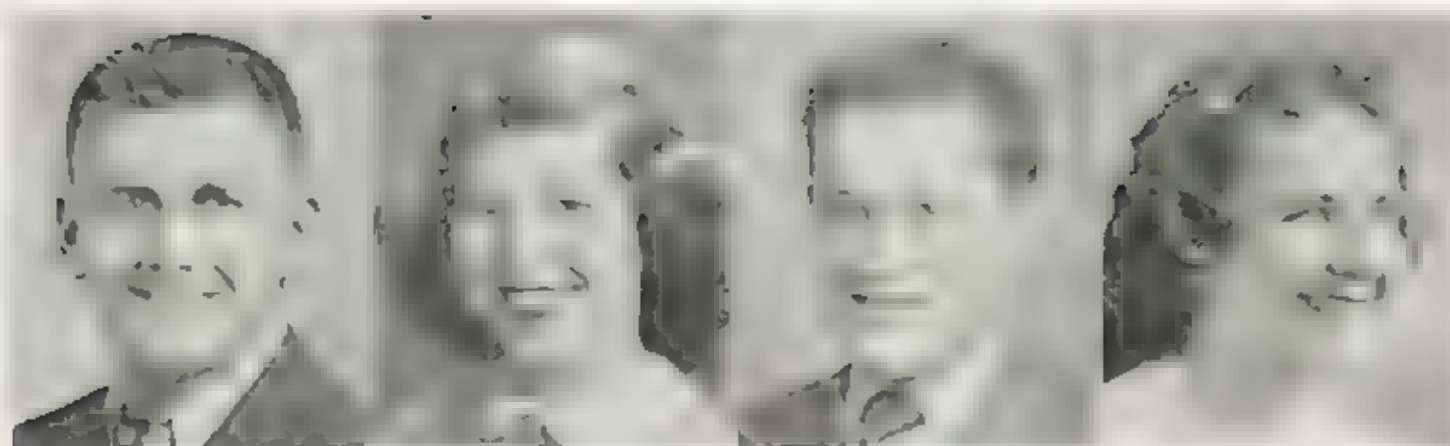

Betty Starr went quietly crazy while her ambitious Art Staff labored and slaved and finally produced the expressive art work of this book. The folks on the "Lit." Staff learned how to make tracks when Aike Jorgensen arrived on the scene, cause she grabbed articles first and explained second. The steady pound pound pound of the typewriter was a constant undercurrent in the life of Stenographic Editor Margaret Kaplan in, who deciphered the hentracks and led her staff in typing and assembling the material for the printer.

The light bulb at the Hasty household rose higher and higher while Art sat up far into the wee hours counting stubs, stubs, and still more stubs. Mary Helmer seriously considered applying for special shoe ratons, went with trotting around from store to store for ads. They're precious because they bring in "The tin we love to touch," in other words, money.

Supervising and always ready to lend a helping hand were the faculty sponsors, Mr. Thomas E. Weiskotten, Mr. Jakes Trutter, Mrs. Emma Rossow, and Miss Betty Kahn. Through the concerted efforts of these people, the yearbook grew, the pages were filled, and the book took on the brightness and color which characterizes the students and activities of Northwestern. The faculty put on the pressure, the editors turned on the power, but the staff produced. Ralph Waldo Emerson's "All are needed by each one. Nothing is further gone than never, ring truer than it did during the weeks and months that the "Norwester" staff worked together and combined their efforts. Without the aid of each department, the publication of a yearbook is impossible. To each owes praise and gratitude for a fine job well done and to all the people who gave of their time and energy we, the receivers of this yearbook, say "Thank You."

MOUNT VERNON HOUSE

Mount Vernon House did it again! What? Kept the other houses "looking to their laurels" in the bond drive; held weekly song fests; remembered weekly a boy in the service with a box of candy; and maintained representation in sports and scholastic activities. A record year! No greater praise may be spoken than that the outgoing seniors and officers have left big shoes to fill indeed.

Fall term officers were Jack Berry and Jane Blair, co-presidents, and Marguerite Brown, acting secretary-treasurer. Spring officers were Dick Cogan, president, Jean Ann, vice-president; and Peggy Comstock, secretary-treasurer.

PERSHING HOUSE

Again this year, Pershing House lived up to its great name! Under the leadership of its beloved counselor, Mr. Carr, Pershing House students have been near the top in bond selling, scholarship, and activities of all kinds. Things really ham in 1940, where there's never a dull moment. Watching over the house were the spring term officers, Dick Dresser, president, Ethelma Fisher, vice-president, and Elena Garcinava, secretary-treasurer, and during the fall semester, Dick Dresser was president, Bill Doss, vice-president, and Karl Farrar, secretary-treasurer. Always ahead of other houses in athletics, Pershing House achieved this goal again. Pershing House is so full of letter sweaters that the room seems one mass of red and gray!

ROOSEVELT HOUSE

"Whatever you do, do well", was the motto which famed the Teddites in the parade of gradrooms. And no wonder, with fall term officers like Ben Hagae, president; Alice Jorgensen, secretary; Gerry Kelly, treasurer; and the Lois Johnston-Gerry L'Abbe combination which governed in the spring term, assisted by Jean Johnston, vice president; Dot Humphrey, secretary; and Betty Jones, treasurer. The "Teddy Gazette," long nonexistent news sheet, was revived last fall by co-editors Orval Johnson and Ben Hagae. This was continued in the spring term by Alice Jorgensen. Additional activities galore existed in 102, upholding its standard of Northwestern's No. 1 house. Miss Clough deserves a big hand for charting the course for such a fine study hall.

BETSY ROSS HOUSE

Betsy Ross House had her share of honors again! It was out in front in the sale of war stamps. Every school club could boast members from 202.

Last September saw Bruce Mayer as president, assisted by Louise Moore. Lorraine Freder was secretary and Rosale McLean kept a watchful eye on the finances. During the Spring term, Max Lewallen held the gavel with Fred Mullen as vice president. Mary McMann proved to be a capable secretary, and Jane Mack was our treasurer.

We all thank Miss Katherine Deberry for her grand cooperation and advice throughout the school year.

During the fall semester, Lincoln House was divided into nine homerooms, each having its own officers. The same system prevailed during the spring term, but honorary house officers were appointed. These were Harry Ramsey, president; Harold Pink, vice-president; Ida Scales, secretary; and Hazel Shuttleworth, treasurer. Students of Lincoln House responded well to the various drives to aid the war effort and placed well up in the running each week in War Bond and Stamp sales. Mr. R. C. Stoll, counselor, lent his very able support and aid to the students, and his assistance in guiding them was invaluable. The students of Lincoln House truly upheld the high standards and traditions set by their predecessors.

Jane Austen House did a gallant job for the service men and for itself! "204" backed our boys by purchasing War Bonds and Stamps and went a step farther by using its house dues to send them candy. The house inaugurated a plan whereby a representative from each homeroom met with the president each week. Together they arranged programs and rallies which were held in the auditorium. During the fall term, Betty Stark reigned as president. Clifford Williams was vice president, Lucile Turner, secretary, and Margie Thomson, treasurer. In January, Clifford Williams took over the presidency, and Thomas Turner, Beverly Williams, and Jean Spaulding handled the remaining offices.

HONOR STUDENTS

For these, quick of mind, who have earned Northwestern's ace title—an honorable high scholastic rating

For these, who have mastered the art of intelligent study, and who have obtained that excellent curricular standard of eighteen honor points or more per cardmarking

For these, who realize the value of constructive concentration, and who apply themselves to worthwhile learning

Yes, for these, who are destined to become our future leaders, we offer a salute, praise, and an earnest challenge. Increased wisdom, additional knowledge, and the best of luck be to you, to you, and to YOU, 10th, 11th, and 12th grade honor students

BOYS' TENNIS TEAM

Starting the year with Captain Don Racine, the only returning letterman, Coach Demaree was faced with building a complete new team. Cooky defeated the inexperienced Colts in a practice game 4-1. The ever ambitious Colts then found themselves and won over Wilbur Wright, Western, and Southwestern, before losing to Chadsey in a close 3-2 battle. Al Shaufelburger led the team, going through the season undefeated.

The Tennis Team is looking forward to a good Spring season, although Captains Jim Reason and Ken Bussler are the only returning lettermen.

TRACK TEAM

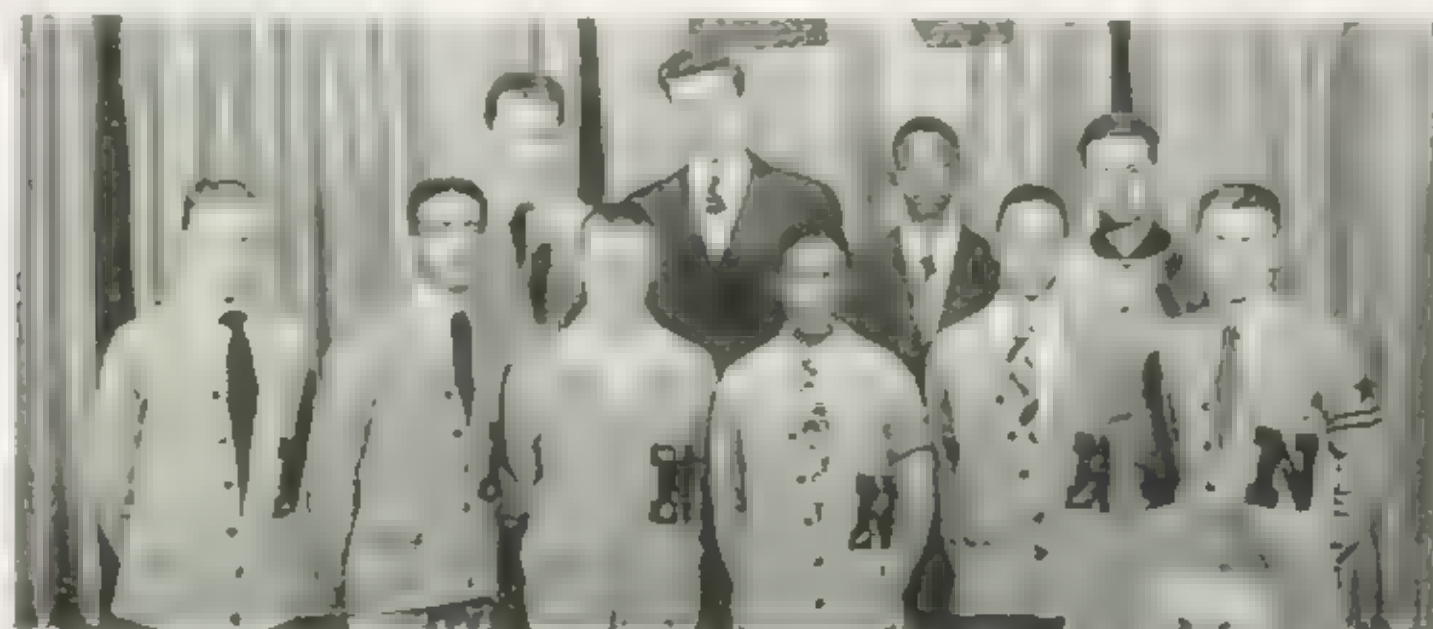

Coach James Russell, having only an ambitious group of tenth graders with which to launch the indoor track season, molded his aggregation around Captain Ulyses Johnson, sprinters Don Godbold and Minus Woodruff, and miler Lloyd Graham. After trimming Western decisively, the Colts lost to Redford in a triangular meet with the "Huskies" and Mackenzies. The track team placed third in the West side meet and is preparing for the city finals. While not the most famous of track teams, we at Northwestern are sure that the Colts will uphold our famous tradition of good sportsmanship and fair play.

BASEBALL TEAM

The Northwestern nine, after a rather dismal previous season, can be looked upon to present a team of high caliber. Led by Captain Dick Dresser, who is ably supported by returning letterman, Donald Teasley, Hal Pink, John Damiani, and Harry Kamsey, this year's team promises to make amends for last season. Coach Sam Bishop expects a large turnout from the freshman class. Written before the baseball schedule begins, this article can only express the hopes and wishes of every Northwestern student for a successful year for the Colt baseball team.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Captain Al Finn was the only letterman to return to the cross country team, the other lettermen having been called to the colors. The new men who signed up were supported very well. They started slowly in dual meets, but showed the results of hard work, finishing third in the West Side meet and fifth in the city finals, only two points from third. Captain Al Finn and Captain elect Lloyd Graham did themselves proud and earned fine records during the year. Mr. James Russell was the coach.

BASKETBALL TEAM

For the first time in eight years, Northwestern's team was a challenger for the city crown. The first game was dropped to Southwestern, but was later forfeited to our worthy Colts. Led by Captain Ronald Teasay and encouraged by Coach Jim Demaree, the boys sailed through the next nine games undefeated and entered the playoffs as champions of the Southwest League. Our fighting Colts eliminated Central 36-30 and Denby 31-28, but the real test came when they faced Mackenzie's strong defensive five. They emerged on the losing end of a 36-25 point score. Captain Teasay's playing earned him a position on the All-City Team.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

The Girls' Tennis Team faced their schedule with only four veteran players to rely on. Their pep, good will, determination, and the will to win inspired the girls to practice long, hard hours under the blazing sun until they achieved the technique and skill of good playing. Captain Margaret K. Hill and starters J. Johnston, Jean Hill, and Lois Hilgendorf led the way for the inexperienced, but eager girls like Beverly Maruhn, Jean Johnston, Dorothy McDonald, Dolores Graham, and Margie Coates. Together, they proved themselves capable of fine, fast, and furious playing.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

Led by Captain Dolores Hurst and instructed by Mrs. Mildred Dann, the girls on the team practiced diligently until they achieved the teamwork required to produce a winning team. Proof came when they went into action, winning against Northern Redford Central, Southwestern, and bowing only to Mackenzie with a score of 21-19. Pauline Burt, Dolores Hurst, Betty McClymote, and Ella Mae Valentine composed a fighting foursome, for their expert playing proved fatal to their challengers.

The reserve team came through all of the games undefeated, and under the fine leadership of the newly elected captain, Pauline Burt, next year insures strong opposition for any contenders "coming 'round" Northwestern way!

The Song of Wings

*I want to fly through the vaults of the sky,
 And to breathe of the cool, pure air
 I want to ride with my God at my side
 —For I'm close to my Lord up there
 I want to gaze down the star-lit ways
 That call me along in their glow
 And to know, as I climb out of distance and time
 The smallness of things left below
 And the strength in it's song as my ship speeds along
 Gives me comfort; and something more
 It tells me that we,—just we two,—are free
 As we've never been free before
 It tells me again, in a language that men
 Bound to earth, never know,—never can
 That alone in the sky, just my ship and I
 Are not just a SHIP, just a MAN
 Though in numbers we're two, yet up there in the blue
 We feel we're one body, one mind
 We're away from the crowds up there in the clouds
 And we've left earthly worries behind
 So, I want to fly through the cool of the sky
 And gaze o'er the clouds spread so vast
 Til the time shall arrive for the final dive —
 And be close to my Lord 'til the last*

GREAT LAKES MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Detroit, Michigan

In order to prosecute a successful war, it is necessary to follow certain definite paths of procedure. There must be methods, men, and money, all of which should be used economically and efficiently

This is likewise true of a life insurance company, if it is to be a success. The company has to have methods, men, and money, and these used with the same degree of care as when fighting a war

The past sixteen years have found us using our resources and men with the keenest possible judgment. So much so until we are able to reorganize our company into a regular Old Line Legal Reserve Life Insurance Company

The new company will write, among others, the following policies: Whole Life, 10-15-20 Year Pay Life, 10-15-20 Year Endowments, Endowment at 65 Years, and a number of forms of Juvenile Policies and Group Insurance

The company is sincerely grateful to those policyholders and friends who have helped to bring about this condition

FIRST AID

*Lady, if you see me lying

Let my gore run, bright and free
Don't attempt to bandage me
While there's life, there's hope, so pet
Don't apply a tourniquet
Do not use a stethoscope*

Don't experiment on me
If I'm suffering from shock
Take a walk around the block
If you must be busy, pray
Help keep the crowds away
So whatever my condition
Phone at once for a Physician
Wait for the ambulance
Let me lie: I'll take a chance
From "First Aid" I beg release—
Lady, let me die in peace!*
